Dave Newman and Rebecca Nadolny created an inventory of Michael Drabik's research collection.

The original eight crates of content were transferred to nine gray archival boxes that match the lists below. Original hanging folders and subfolders were retained, and kept in the original sequence of each crate. A few new labels and folders were added for clarity and missing information.

SUMMARY

The collection strongly focuses on Polish parishes of Catholic churches on Buffalo's East Side. Michael Drabik drilled into specific social groups and their leaders.

- Specific areas of study include Dom Polskis, Falcons, priests, undertakers and cemeteries, singing societies and performance.
- The collection randomly includes correspondence of Michael with church members in the western New York region and beyond.
- Roman Catholic churches are the majority denomination studied, with significant content about the Polish National Catholic Church, and some attention to Baptists, Jewish temples, and Mormons.
- Various topics of focus include steamships, postage stamps, Dr. Fronczak's activities, Polish veterans, sister city Rzeszow.
- Since Michael Drabik was a past president of the Polish Genealogical Society of New York State (PGSNYS), his collection contains a few notes about PGSNYS projects along with genealogical tips.
